FEAR FOR LAWSON

BROKEN DOWN BY VIGIL AT BIER OF WIFE

"THE NEST," AT DREAMWOLD, WHERE T. W. LAWSON KEEPS LONELY VIGIL BY WIFE'S COFFIN

Friends Anxious About State Street Financier Though Secretary Thinks He Will Be Able to Return to Work in Six Weeks—Long Watch by Casket.

Fear is felt for the brilliant mind of Thomas W. Lawson on account of his grief and despair at the recent death of his beloved wife. "Mr. Lawson is, as it were, a man groping in the dark."

This significant statement, all the more impressive on account of the conservative source whence it comes, indicates the depths of woe to which the erstwhile daring and resolute financier is plunged.

It comes from Edward McSweeney, Mr. Lawson's private secretary, who reluctantly acknowledges that Mr. Lawson is not at present the man he has been.

Mr. McSweeney expects to see Mr. Lawson at work again in six weeks. That optimism is not shared by the financial leaders of State street. Reports of Mr. Lawson's actions since the death of his wife do not justify either.

ALL ELSE FORGOTTEN.

To-day began the fourth week at Dreamwold of Mr. Lawson's practically conscious vigil beside Mrs. Lawson's bier. The master mind which once handled big business matters is now deadened with grief.

State street is forgotten. The blooded horses and dogs with which Mr. Lawson was wont to delight himself, please him no more. The powerful opponents of the financial world with whom he waged bold and unremitting warfare, are unmolested. All the hundred and one varied interests to which he attended with such ease, are neglected, while the master of Dreamwold is consumed by a grief that cannot be abated.

Even the tears, which often relieve a woman's sorrow, are denied Mr. Lawson. By his wife's casket he mourns and mourns in the agonizing, racking despair that only a strong man can suffer.

CHANGED WHOLE LIFE.

As great as has been his capacity for affairs, so great is Mr. Lawson's capacity for sorrow. It has been written:

"Is it true, O, Christ in Heaven, that the wisest suffer most,
That the strongest wander furthest and most hopelessly are lost,
That the mark of rank in Nature is capacity for pain
That the anguish of the singer leads its sweetness to the strain?"

It seems all too true in Mr. Lawson's case. His power of action has been great. But an immutable law of nature, the reaction of grief, is equally far-reaching for him.

Formerly Mr. Lawson was at his State street office, at his private business apartments in Young's Hotel, speeding from Dreamwold to Boston and then back home to enjoy the domestic life which was so dear to him.

The death of his wife on Saturday, August 5, although not unexpected by Mr. Lawson, has changed his whole life. He stays in Dreamwold now, giving way to his sorrow.

BODY STILL IN "THE NEST."

When Mr. Lawson built Dreamwold, one of the countless tokens of his love for his wife, he planned extra details from time to time, just to please Mrs. Lawson. One of these happy inspirations was "The Nest," a cosy bungalow in which Mrs. Lawson loved to spend much of her time. She and her husband would even live there for weeks and weeks, preferring the quiet and secluded comfort of the little structure to the bustling activity of the main house.

Now husband and wife are in the "The Nest." Mrs. Lawson was borne there in a hermetically sealed casket soon after the funeral. A granite tomb is being constructed near the bungalow, which will ultimately receive her body.

But while the body is in "The Nest," pending completion of the tomb, Mr. Lawson spends nearly all his time there. He sits by the casket. What thoughts run through his mind only those who have lost dear ones can rightly appreciate.

THINKS OF EARLY DAYS.

Maybe he thinks of the time when he, a young man, first met Mrs. Lawson; of the happy days of courtship, of his marriage to

Another of Czar's Generals Added to Terrorist Dead

WARSAW CHIEF SHOT DOWN

ASSASSIN OF WONLARLARSKI HAS ESCAPED, IDENTITY NOT KNOWN.

WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 27.—Another Terrorist victim was added to the long list to-day when General Wonlarlarski was shot dead by a person whose identity is not known.

The assassin escaped.

GUARDS FOIL PLOT TO KILL THE CZAR

By Robert Crozier Long.

The American's Special Commissioner in Russia.

Special Cable to Boston American.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 27.—Revolution by revolt is dead. Revolution by terrorism is revived. Such is the situation in Russia to-day.

The Stolypin outrage appears to be part of a gigantic plot involving the lives of all of the heads of the government from the Czar downward. Since the Czar dissolved the Duma he no longer enjoys immunity from the Terrorists.

General Min, commander of the Seminovsky Guard Regiment, who suppressed the riots at Moscow last December, was assassinated at Peterhof last night by a young girl who fired five shots from a revolver into his back.

PLOT ON CZAR FAILS.

Prior to the dissolution of the Duma, the Reds did not want the Czar killed. Now his name heads the list of those marked for slaughter.

Simultaneously with the attack upon Premier Stolypin's villa Saturday, an attempt was made to enter Peterhof Palace and kill the Czar.

The attempt proved unsuccessful, for the palace guards, cautioned into unusual vigilance, arrested one of the two would be assassins near the palace wall, where he was crouching waiting to effect an entrance.

He was armed with a bomb concealed in a basket of fruit. Later his accomplice was found inside the park, crouching under the branches of a fir tree. Both men were quickly identified as notorious members of the Moscow Terrorists.

It is apparent that the social revolutionists have determined to abandon their former plan for a general armed outbreak against the government on the ground of its cost to themselves.

Police Are Baffled.

For it does not cost the government proportionately nearly as much for troops to subdue such outbreaks as for the revolutionists to foment them.

On the other hand, bombs are cheap, bomb-throwers always ready at hand, and nearly always they escape in the excitement following an assassination.

The secret police are at their wits ends in trying to discover the location of the bomb factories and the organization through which the bombs are distributed throughout the country. As shown by the Stolypin explosion, the bombs are extraordinarily powerful and are undoubtedly the handiwork of skilled chemists, who supply Terrorist camps in every city in the empire.

GIRL ASSASSIN OF GEN. MIN SEIZED BY VICTIM'S WIFE

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 27.—Saturday's unsuccessful attempt on the life of Premier Stolypin, with its sickening, useless slaughter of thirty-two persons, was followed last night by another revolutionary outrage in which General Min, commander of the Seminovsky Guard Regiment, and who, since his promotion to be a general, has been attached as a personal adjutant to the suite of the Emperor, was killed on the station platform at Peterhof by a young woman. She fired five shots into his body from an automatic revolver, and then, without resistance, submitted to arrest. The capture of the girl was effected

FOSS TO FIGHT DRAPER IN EVERY BOSTON WARD

Eugene N. Foss, the reciprocity candidate for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant-Governor, will contest every ward in Boston with Lieutenant-Governor Eben S. Draper at the Republican primaries on September 26, a full set of nomination papers for Foss being taken out at the headquarters of the Republican City Committee early to-day by William N. Brigham, the tariff reformer's secretary.

Brigham was one of the first on hand when Secretary Fred Thissell began the giving out of the papers at 9 o'clock. He was closely followed by a messenger from Eben S. Draper's office, who took a full set of papers for Draper. Former Representative Thomas N. Vinson of Ward 20 took out a set of papers for the senatorial nomination in the new Eighth Suffolk District, composed of Wards 20 and 21, and Senator Guy W. Cox in the Fifth District, Wards 10, 11 and 25.

For the congressional fights papers were taken out by Senator "Dan" Lane, Senator Frank L. Seiberlich and Max Friedman in the Eleventh District, and former Senator Edward B. Callender and James P. Magenis in the Tenth District.

Besides the full set of papers taken out by Draper's messenger papers in his interest and for Guild and the rest of the "machine" ticket were taken out by the chairman of the Republican ward committees in Wards 12, 18, 20, 21 and 24.

300 YANKEES HELD AS SLAVES BY THE FRENCH

That 300 American citizens are now held in slavery by a powerful body of fishermen on the coast of France is the startling story told by Frank Downing who landed in Boston today from the Warren line steamer Sachem. Downing declares that he, with nearly 300 other Americans, went to St. Nazaire, France, some months ago, to assist in the introduction of American methods of oyster raising in that place.

With the others, he says, he was subjected to terrible treatment, poorly fed, poorly paid and kept in slavery by the men who hire them. Privations and sickness were suffered by all.

At last Downing, with several other bolder men in the party, planned their escape and succeeded in getting away. Downing left his companions and made his way to Liverpool, where he stowed himself away on the Sachem.

MYSTERY IN BAD INJURY TO NEWTON MAN

LOWELL, Aug. 27.—Michael Quinn of Newton was found in the yard of the Richards boarding house, No. 243 Worthen street, early to-day, suffering from a number of bruises and three fractured ribs. He is now in St. John's Hospital, and his condition is serious.

How the man was injured is a mystery. The police have instituted a rigid investigation and it will be all the more thorough, for ten days ago a boarder in the house was found unconscious at the bottom of a stairway. He died later of a fractured skull.

Quinn was unconscious when found and the police ordered his removal to the hospital. It was sometime after his admittance that the man regained consciousness and the physicians were able to get him to talk. Quinn told the doctors and police that he did not know how he was injured.

SHOOTS AT MILKMAN IN DARING HOLDUP

POSSE HUNTING BANDIT WHO POUNDED VICTIM WITH GUN ON LONELY ROAD.

LOWELL, Aug. 27.—David Williams, a Kingsboro milkman, was held up while on his way to this city early to-day, struck over the head with a revolver and fired at several times, the bullets going wild.

The highwayman made his escape after firing several other shots at the wagon. A posse of officers, under Chief Benjamin Lawrence, are scouring the woods for the highwayman.

Williams was driving along a lonely stretch of road, when the highwayman jumped out from a dense wood, climbed upon the step of the wagon, and, pointing his revolver in Williams's face, demanded that he throw up his hands. Williams tried to urge his horses on, and as he did so received a blow over the head with the butt end of a revolver.

Jumping from the wagon, the bandit fired two shots at the milkman, the shots frightening the horses into a gallop. The highwayman tried to get on the wagon step again, but the momentum of the team threw him back. He fired several shots at the wagon as it dashed down the road.

Williams brought his horses to a standstill a quarter of a mile away. He then drove back to Kingsboro and notified the police. Up to a late hour no trace of the highwayman has been found.

HUMIDITY AT 92; THREE HEAT PROSTRATIONS

RELIEF IS NOW PROMISED

HEAT PROSTRATION.

THOMPSON, AGNES, 83 years old, of No. 230 Magnolia avenue, Cambridge; overcome in Lincoln avenue; taken to Cambridge Relief Hospital.

BRANNIGAN, CATHERINE, sixty-five years old, no home; overcome on Grove street. Massachusetts General Hospital.

EWING, FLORENCE, of No. 295 Tremont street; overcome in second session Municipal Criminal Court; witness in a case. Relief Hospital.

With the humidity at the record-breaking notch of 92 per cent., which is above normal, and with the thermometer registering 80 at noon, Bostonians and others along this section of the coast are experiencing one of the most oppressive days thus far this Summer.

One prostration is recorded at the Cambridge Relief Hospital, and many others partially overcome have been cared for in drug stores. Miss Agnes Thompson, eighty-three years old, gave way under the weakening humidity in Cambridge shortly before noon, while walking on Lincoln avenue. People who saw her fall to the sidewalk cared for her until an ambulance arrived. She was taken to the Relief Hospital in that city, and her condition is not regarded as serious. She lives at No. 230 Magnolia avenue, Cambridge.

Experts at the Weather Bureau do not believe that the thermometer will go far above 80 to-day, although at 11 o'clock the mercury was at that point and slowly climbing on the upward way.

The forecast is the only thing that shows any hope. Here it is:

Showers and cooler to-night. Tuesday clear and cool with fresh westerly to northwest winds.

The thermometer registered 71 at midnight, and 79 at 10 o'clock this morning. The highest the mercury has gone on the same date was 91 last year, and the lowest 47 in 1888.

To-day's temperatures were:

QUINCY HOPES TO BEAT MORAN BY TRICKERY

Planning to Manipulate Convention Through Officers and Shouters.

ORATORS TO PLAY A PART

Balked at every turn that he has made in the game of the State street Democracy to defeat John B. Moran for the regular nomination for Governor, Josiah Quincy, chairman of the State machine, is now preparing desperate tactics.

Realizing that he cannot capture the primaries, he is devoting all his talents as a schemer arranging plans to capture the State convention by trickery. It is his intention to fight the organization of the convention along lines that will best suit his purposes, and, in keeping with the rough-house part of the programme, he will name a man for permanent chairman who is obnoxious to the Moran people, and another of the same stripe for chairman of the platform committee. He wants to precipitate a fight on those points, not only to test the Moran strength, but to develop time in which to save the membership at large of the State machine.

Another part of the Quincy program is the attempt to stampede the convention for Douglas. With Gaston agents working among the delegates and applause promoters distributed around the Temple to arouse enthusiasm, he will have his star spellbinders, Congressman John A. Sullivan, ex-Congressman John R. Thayer and others, appeal for the former Governor. He is hoping against hope that he may be able to swing the delegates by oratory if all other tricks fail.

Already the word is being passed around that it would be a terrible thing to have George Fred Williams in line for a member of the national committee in place of his boss, Colonel William A. Gaston, and that the State Democracy would go to the bowwows if Colonel A. C. Drinkwater or John P. Feeney should be chosen chairman of the State committee in place of one of his own choosing.

WHITNEY WILL NOT CHANGE HIS MIND; STILL FOR DOUGLAS

Henry M. Whitney, just returned from Canada, says no amount of pressure can prevail upon him to alter his determination not to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

"It is the duty of Governor Douglas to permit the use of his name in the convention," he insists.

Whitney will say nothing about the availability of Senator George A. Schofield of Ipswich for Governor and declares that Douglas is the best equipped man to make the fight against John B. Moran in the convention and against Governor Guild at the polls. That is because, as he admits, Whitney can see no issue in this campaign but tariff revision and reciprocity.

He knows nothing about Quincy's attempt to draft Douglas and is not taking any stock in Quincy moves. Neither is he disposed to solicit Douglas to be the candidate of the Moran opposition. He believes he did all he could be expected to do for Douglas when he stepped out of the contest at the suggestion of Douglas's agent. Quincy wants a delegation to go to Brockton and persuade Douglas that he should agree to take the nomination if it can be handed to him, but Whitney will have to be shoved into such a scheme as that.

John R. Thayer of Worcester says he has not heard of this latest move of the "con" man of the State machine.

"I have not seen Governor Douglas and have not written to him for several months," he says. "I don't know anything about sending a delegation to Brockton. I don't know as I would go. I am attending to business. So much nonsense has been written about me lately that I am disgusted of the whole business. The attempt has been made to set me down as an enemy of Henry M. Whitney, when, as a matter of fact, I am his best friend. I refuse to talk about politics."

WARD 9 YACHT CLUB GIVES MORAN INDORSEMENT

The Ward 9 Yacht Club unanimously indorsed John B. Moran for next Governor of Massachusetts at the annual outing on Peddock's Island, Boston Harbor, yesterday.

The names of Timothy Callahan for candidate for the House of Representatives and Joseph J. Leonard for Common Council were heartily indorsed.

GERMANY JOYOUS FOR CHRISTENING OF KAISER'S FIRST GRANDSON AUG. 29

CROWN PRINCESS OF GERMANY AND INFANT SON, CHRISTENED AUG. 29

From Photograph Made in Berlin by Special Command of the Kaiser.

Crown Prince's Crowing Infant May Some Day Wear Crown of the Hohenzollerns.

Special to the Boston American.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—For the first time in over a generation a direct heir-presumptive to the throne of the Hohenzollerns is to be christened. The eyes of the loyal German nation are turned toward Potsdam, where the crown prince's infant is to be given a name Aug. 29. In commemoration of the event an imperial decree has been published pardoning all persons convicted of lese majeste toward the German Emperor or any member of the royal family.

It is usual for some manifestation of imperial munificence to appear at such occasions. At the time of the crown prince's wedding the Kaiser endowed several hospitals throughout the empire. It is expected that this christening of his grandson, of whom he is intensely proud, will call forth another demonstration of a philanthropic nature.

Germany En Fete.

Germany is en fete in honor of the event. The christening itself will be a family affair. This does not mean, however, that all the relatives of the babe will attend. That would bring people from nearly every civilized court in Europe. It means, rather, that the immediate family and some favored few at the court will go to the palace at Potsdam to see the child christened.

To mark the fact that the child was born on the Fourth of July, the American colony of Berlin has resolved to present him with a silver cup emblazoned with the American flag and eagle.

The name to be given the child has been selected, of course, but it will not be known until after the ceremony. The Kaiser, with his usual royal prerogative of directing family affairs unto the third and fourth generation, will have a say in the matter.

Emperor William Delighted Over Baby—Young Crown Princess Fast Regaining Health.

The importance of this lusty German baby cannot be overestimated. The Kaiser will be succeeded, in all ordinary calculation, by the crown prince. The latter is still in his twenties, so the chances of his son, the present infant, coming to the throne are somewhat distant. But accidents happen in royal, as well as in plebian families, and the crowing baby at Potsdam may yet wear the Hohenzollern crown.

Kaiser Delighted.

As he is the first baby born to the Kaiser's eldest son and heir he is naturally a person of great interest to the Kaiser himself. It was only recently that the Kaiser, on his return from his yachting trip to Norway, saw the babe for the first time. The Kaiser was royally delighted with his grandson, was glad to see that he was such a promising youngster and was appropriately complimentary to the royal parents.

The mother, the young crown princess, is doing finely and is rapidly recovering her usual flourishing health.

RAILROAD RATE LAW IN EFFECT TOMORROW

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Following are the important features of the new railroad law which goes into effect to-morrow.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is increased in membership from five to seven. James S. Harlan, son of Associate Justice Harlan of the Supreme Court of the United States, and E. E. Clark, for many years chief of the order of Railway Conductors, have been appointed by the President as the additional members. The salaries of the members are increased from $7,000 to $10,000 a year.

Provisions of the act are extended to include persons or corporations engaged in the transportation of oil.

Express companies are brought under all provisions of the law applying to common carriers.

Free Passes Restricted.

The issuance of free transportation is restricted to employes (and their families) of common carriers; penalty for violation is a fine of from $100 to $2,000 for each offence, both the carrier who gives and the individual who receives a pass being liable. This provision does not legally become operative until January 1 next, but most of the railroads of the country have signified their intention of putting it into effect at once.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is given full power, upon complaint, and after hearing, to fix a reasonable and just maximum rate, which shall take effect thirty days after the order of the commission and shall remain in effect two years unless changed by the commission or set aside by the courts as confiscatory or beyond the powers conferred upon the commission. Violations of orders of the commission regarding rates may be punished by a fine of $5,000 a day.

Enforcement of orders of the commission may be effected by injunction or other mandatory order.

Rebates Prohibited.

Appeals may be taken by either party to the United States Supreme Court.

The commission may prescribe uniform methods of bookkeeping and accounting and shall have access at all times to all records of common carriers, refusal to submit records being punishable by a fine of $500 for each offence.

Carriers are required to file with the Interstate Commerce Commission and to post conspicuously all schedules and changes in rates, no change to be effective until the thirty days after notice.

All contracts and agreements between carriers regarding transportation must be filed with the commission.

Rebates and discriminations of all kinds are absolutely prohibited. Persons offering or accepting rebates may be fined from $1,000 to $20,000 for each offence, and imprisonment for not more than two years.

HINCKLEY, CHIEF OF WRECKED BANK, DIES

NEWTON, Aug. 27.—Sylvester Baxter Hinckley, president of the First National Bank of Chelsea, which recently passed into the hands of a receiver, died last night at his home here after an illness of six months.

After retiring from active business fourteen years ago he was elected a director in the First National Bank of Chelsea and a year later he became president.

Some months ago Mr. Hinckley's health began to fail and almost directly his business ventures seemed to take an unfortunate turn.

From month to month matters grew worse, until the directors called upon President Hinckley to make explanation of some rather dim affairs in connection with his transactions with the bank, and finally he made over all his personal property and real estate to the bank, but this did not save the bank. Broken-hearted, he sank rapidly.

Mr. Hinckley was born in Yarmouth in 1841, but with his parents soon moved to Chelsea, where he received his early education.

He chose a business career, and was successful in New York and Washington, finally returning to enter the cordage manufacturing business, in which he remained up to the time of entering the Chelsea bank.

He made his home in this city when a young man.

THAW SEEKS JUSTIFICATION IN THE BIBLE

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Who so keepeth his mouth and his tongue keepeth his soul from troubles—Proverbs xxi., 23.

This passage from the Bible, which Harry Kendall Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, opened to at random while attending services in the Tombs a week ago, started the prisoner to read the Scriptures, in the belief that he can find justification for his act. He borrowed the Bible which now is his constant companion in his cell from one of the Sisters of Charity who visit the Tombs.

"He has marked several passages in his Bible," said one of the Tombs guards yesterday. "Thaw first glances over the newspapers and then takes up his Bible. He has been reading the Scriptures for a week now and is apparently much interested. Doubtless he hopes to aid his lawyer in finding biblical justification for his killing of White."

ASHORE IN FOG FISHING CREW IS RESCUED

ROCKPORT, Aug. 27.—Because of the dense fog off Cape Ann, the fishing schooner M. H. Perkins, Captain Frank Carroll, formerly of the steam trawler Spray, ran on the Selvages off Thatcher's Island, early this morning and before the day is over will be destroyed on the rocks.

The schooner was returning from a fishing trip to the banks and was loaded with 16,000 pounds of pollock. The crew had a narrow escape from being drowned, as there was only one dory on the schooner. Nine came ashore first, and then the remainder were rescued by the life-saving crew at Rockport. The schooner struck aft on the rocks, which drove the rudder through the deck and deckhouse. The vessel then began to fill with water, although the tide was low, but the waves pounded her against the rocks as the tide came in.

The schooner was of seventy tons and carried a crew of fourteen men. She was one of the oldest boats in this vicinity.

Captain Carroll was in charge of the Spray for some time, but resigned after she met with an accident off Boston Light.

OVERCOME BY LONG VIGIL AT MATE'S BIER

Grave Fears Felt by Friends, as His Condition Is Said to Be Serious.

'MAN GROPING IN THE DARK'

her twenty-eight years ago, of their early wedded life, of the coming of the children, of their ideal home life together, and of their gradual success in material affairs.

In the fierce financial war that Mr. Lawson has waged, in which he has lashed men of world-wide reputation into white-hot rage, bitter things have been said against him. All the strength of money, of law and Heaven knows what other powers and resources have been brought against him.

But never has aught been said against "Tom" Lawson's domestic life. The Cambridge girl he married in 1878 ever remained, even when chronic illness assailed her, the beloved bride of his younger days. From the whirl and conflict of financial strife Mr. Lawson would turn eagerly toward his family circle, finding it a never-ceasing well-spring of joy and comfort. To his wife and mother of his children he was always faithful, tender and loving.

PUTS FLOWERS ON COFFIN.

Thus, as he sits by the bier of this woman, Mr. Lawson is hardly able to realise that he will never see her again. When the full force of his loss comes to him occasionally, his sorrow shows itself in pitiful form. Then he will go out among the magnificent gardens of Dreamwold and gather great armfuls of flowers, such as he and his wife loved to cultivate. These he will place on the coffin as though he would give pleasure again to the wife he has lost.

At times, when his mental agony drives him to physical action, Mr. Lawson will call for a carriage and will drive over the roads that Mrs. Lawson wont to drive over with him. Then he will return to "The Nest" and resume his pathetic vigil.

It is related that the day Mrs. Lawson died her husband refused to believe she was really dead. This idea haunted him so that he even said that she was not dead, but that she had been away and was coming home to Dreamwold on the next train.

"In two hours she will be here," he said. "I guess I'd better order the horses and drive to the station to meet her."

SET ALL CLOCKS AHEAD.

And the sons and daughters, forgetting their grief in that of their father's, could only dissuade him by setting the Dreamwold clocks ahead and telling him he had no time then to get to the station to meet Mrs. Lawson. Imagine the author of the fiercely scathing articles against "The System" being reduced to that mental extremity.

The story of Mr. Lawson's vigil at "The Nest" is not exaggerated. Secretary McSweeney admits that Mr. Lawson sleeps by the coffin and is disconsolate. Mr. McSweeney says:

"For nearly thirty years Mrs. Lawson had been first in the mind of her husband. For all that time all his multitudinous interests had been subordinated to her. During the past nine years, when she was practically an invalid, his care for her and his attention to her wishes had been proportionately greater.

"Now, suddenly deprived of her upon whom his mind and heart were chiefly centred, he is, as it were, a man groping in the dark. His mind has not had time to focus itself upon what he must do. That he will soon adjust himself to the new conditions I have no doubt.

"While State street has spread stories that he will not be seen at his desk for six months, perhaps never, I expect that six weeks will see him at work again."

MR, AND MRS. THOMAS W. LAWSON,

This photograph of Mr and Mrs. Lawson was taken at Mr. Lawson's request by R. W. Sears staff photographer for the BOSTON AMERICAN. It was taken last Spring and has never been published before. Mr. and Mrs. Lawson were standing in the rear of their town residence on Beacon street, Back Bay.

2 KILLED IN TROLLEY AND AUTO CRASH

5 Others Injured in Providence Wreck; Samuel Frazean of Rock Island, Canada, Hurt.

MANCHESTER BOY KILLED

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 27.—In a collision between a big touring car containing seven people and a trolley car at Lakewood last night the chauffeur, Oliver Labelle of New Bedford, was instantly killed and Liquor Inspector Aime E. Frazeau of Fall River, the owner of the machine, was fatally injured, dying some hours later, while George J. Paquette of New Bedford was severely hurt.

The party consisted of Mrs. Frazeau, wife of the inspector, their nine-year-old daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Frazeau. Samuel Frazeau is Mayor of Rock Island, Can. They were on the way to Providence, and when they reached the crossing of the Providence-Buttonwoods trolley line were held up by a flagman.

Two cars were at that time approaching the crossing, and although the chauffeur waited for the southbound car to pass, he evidently failed to see the northbound car and wheeled his machine on to the track directly in front of the big suburban car, which was approaching at a high rate of speed.

The trolley car struck the automobile squarely in the middle, throwing it sixty feet down the track, wrecking it completely. The chauffeur, Labelle, was thrown under the wheels of the trolley car and the top of his head cut off above the eyes.

Mrs. Aime Frazeau jumped before the collision and escaped without any injury, while her daughter, who remained in the vehicle, was thrown by the force of the collision into a bed of soft sand between the tracks, and she also was unhurt.

A physician on the trolley car and others who were summoned attended the two injured persons, who were afterward removed to the Rhode Island Hospital in this city.

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt., Aug. 27.—Charles Park, whose automobile broke down yesterday about one mile from this town, was trying to fix it, when the gasoline tank exploded, burning the machine to the ground.

Parks had a narrow escape.

MANCHESTER, Mass., Aug. 27.—A touring car last night owned and driven by Frank A. Russell, a Boston real estate dealer, crushed out the life of Gerald Gorman, aged eleven, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Gorman. The boy was playing with a companion and failed to see the auto which struck him.

He was breathing when picked up, but died a few minutes later before a physician, who had been summoned, arrived.

The auto was numbered 1310, and was owned by Frank A. Russell of Brookline, and driven by him.

Medical Examiner Haddock of Beverly said death was caused by concussion of the brain. Chief of Police Peabody will have the case brought before the District Court at Salem to-day for a hearing.

Frank A. Russell is a prominent real estate dealer in Brooklyn and lives at the Beaconsfield in that town. He has offices at 219 Washington street, 113 Devonshire street, Boston, and 1321 Beacon street.

AUTO SPEEDERS FINED AT LYNN

Special to the Boston American.

LYNN, Aug. 27.—Four automobilists, three of them chauffeurs, were fined to-day by Judge John W. Berry of the Lynn District Court as a result of the first raid of the season on speeders by the authorities of Nahant.

Martin O'Malley, chauffeur for Edward Frothingham, was fined $30 in two counts for speeding above the legal rate in Nahant and Swampscott. George W. Morris, chauffeur for C. E. Stevens of Lynn, was fined $25 on a charge of reckless driving at Bass Point, Nahant. Arthur Moen, who drives the cars of T. S. O'Shea, the wealthy Peabody leather merchant, was fined $15, and Hoffman Richardson, of Marlboro street, Boston, paid the same amount for going too fast in his own auto.

KILLED IN CUBAN FIGHT; PALMA SCENTS A PLOT

FRIENDS OF PRESIDENT ACCUSE CAPOTE OF CONSPIRACY TO SEIZE HIS OFFICE.

HAVANA, Aug. 27.—A battle with the rebels near Cascabel, in which several men were killed, is reported to-day by Major Gomez. The engagement took place yesterday, but details are lacking.

Serious differences have arisen between President Palma and Vice-President Capote. Friends of the President accuse the Vice-President of plotting to set Palma aside and seize the presidency for himself.

Capote is suspected of having considered with Senator Alfredo Zayas, president of the liberal party, the question whether peace could not be restored by Palma's withdrawal from the presidency, by permitting Mendez Capote to succeed him, and by giving certain posts to the liberals.

The government announced to-day the capture of ex-Congressman Carlos Mendieta, the leader of the insurgents in the city of Santa Clara. He had $8,000 in his possession when taken. This capture has been confirmed from other sources. Colonel Aranda, who was with Mendieta, also was taken prisoner. The capture of Mendieta is of great importance.

Uprising in Santiago.

Colonel Ernesto Asbert, commanding the body of insurgents now in Havana province, has sent to the capital a signed statement announcing that he has as many followers as he needs to keep up the fighting indefinitely. He proposes to destroy the rule of Palma, who, his enemies assert, aims to acquire the power of an emperor.

Dispatches just received say there has been a serious uprising in the province of Santiago. According to these advices, General Clavel is leading the movement and has the support of many of the most prominent men in the province.

General Alejandro Rodriquez, commanding the Government forces, says his forces consist of 4,000 rural guards, 700 artillerymen and 1,000 volunteers. The Government has in its arsenals 34,000 Remington rifles and 8,000 Springfields, all of which, save a thousand, are useless until they are cleaned and repaired. Recruits are being equipped with these rifles.

Rebels Well Armed.

The rebel leader, Pino Guerra, is said to have got 26,000 rounds of ammunition in San Luis, 28,000 in San Juan and 40,000 in Sabalo, together with great quantities of arms, horses and saddles.

A train from Havana bearing 150 recruits and 40 rural guards reached Pinar del Rio yesterday and reinforced the government troops already there.

A band of 100 insurrectionists entered Las Lajas, Santa Clara province, yesterday, and got away with the contents of the local treasury, $8,000.

A special edition of the official Gazette authorize the seizure of all horses needed by the government forces. Proper payment will be made for all animals thus taken. The shortage of horses is at present one of the worst drawbacks with which the government has to contend.

The government has discovered that the movements of Pino Guerra and other important revolutionary commanders are directed by a committee of revolutionary veterans in Havana. This practice will be broken up and several arrests are expected.

The anxiety of President Palma to stop further bloodshed and end the revolt has led to consideration by the president and his cabinet of a project decreeing a thirty-day amnesty period, during which the insurrectionists are invited to lay down their arms and return to their peaceful pursuits.

$2,000,000 Defence Fund.

It was proposed to issue the decree to-day, but men close to the President strongly opposed the measure, and the matter was deferred, and may be relinquished.

General Montalvo, who is Acting Secretary of the Interior, on leaving the President last night said that at present there was no intention to issue an amnesty.

Fon[illegible] Sterling, Secretary of the Treasury, said the matter was not being seriously considered, and other friends of President Palma declared it would be an unwise move.

A fund of $2,000,000 has been set aside by the treasury for defence, and drafts on it are heavy and constant.

The situation is so increasingly serious that it is tacitly admitted in all government circles that the enlargement of the army will not stop at any given number, but will continue indefinitely.

CUBAN LEADERS WILL GIVE GOVERNMENT TROUBLE—FUNSTON

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 27.—The critical situation in Cuba is being watched in the United States army camp at American Lake with much interest, especially by officials who saw service in the Spanish-American War.

Interviewed on the subject, General Funston, who has had considerable experience in Cuban affairs, declined to express any opinion as to the outcome of the trouble.

"The situation in Cuba, undoubtedly is serious," said the general, "but I am not in a position to enlighten the public. It is eight years since I was in Cuba and conditions have altered considerably since that time. I know some of the men who appear to be taking a prominent part in the insurrection and can well believe that they will cause the government trouble.

"You can say that I am watching the news from Cuba with very great interest, but really I have no information other than that already possessed by the general public."

DROWNED SWIMMING FOR DRIFTING BOAT

AUGUSTA, Me., Aug. 27.—Lorenzo P. Pensley, while swimming to recover his boat, which he had fastened insecurely, was seized with cramps and drowned yesterday in the Kennebec River.

TEN THOUSAND HIBERNIANS TO JOIN IN THE BIENNIAL PARADE

Biggest Convention in State's History Promised at Fall River.

Delegates Gather for Celebration To-night to Open Big Meeting.

FALL RIVER, Aug. 27.—The biennial convention of the Massachusetts branch of the Ancient Order of Hibernians convenes in this city to-night, when the visiting delegates will be given a reception and ball in McKinley Hall, Weaver Building, and which will be graced by the presence of State and city officials. The convention will last several days.

To-morrow morning the delegates will assemble in McKinley Hall, and from ther they will march to St. Mary's Pro-Cathedral, where pontifical mass will be celebrated, the celebrant of wihch will be the Rt. Rev. Bishop Strang of the Fall River diocese.

The delegates will return to the convention hall, where the mayor of the city will welcome the delegates. National President Matthew J. Cummings will respond for the organization. The appointment of the several committees will then take place, followed by adjournment.

To-morrow afternoon there will be a parade at 2:30, when it is expected 10,000 will be in line.

Banquet To-morrow.

The First Hibernian Regiment of Boston, the members of which will wear a neat service uniform and side arms, and the Second Regiment of Fall River, dressed similar to the Boston corps, will take part.

The visiting organizations will be the guests of the Fall River divisions, all of which have made extensive arrangements for their entertainment.

Tomorrow evening a banquet will be given the visitors at the William J. Dunn Building on South Main street. Addresses will be delivered by many of the visiting clergymen and the head officers of the A. O. H. The remainder of the week will find the delegates all interested in the affairs of the order.

President Cummings, who has recently been elevated by the Hibernians of the United States to the office of National President, has sent out a circular to the several counties in the State where the seed of Hibernianism has taken root, the substance of which reads as follows:

Sees Harmony Everywhere.

"Your State officers take this opportunity to say that our organization was never in better condition in this State than it is at present; absolute harmony prevails, and the A. O. H., repesenting the Irish Catholics of this State, commands more respect to-day than it ever did before.

"To-day the A. O. H. stands as the great national society of the Irishmen in America, working for the advancement of the principles of Irish nationality, in behalf of the Catholic education, ready to guard the welfare of this republic, and to promote and develop all that furthers the advancement of the Irish race."

The most interesting part of the convention will be the report of the State and county delegations that attended the recent national convention at Saratoga last July. At that convention much important business bearing upon the State branch was transacted, prominent among which was the legislation looking toward the placing of the history of Ireland in the public schools of the various cities and towns, which has already taken root in Boston, and the establishing of Hibernian clubs wherein the young men may gather evenings and holidays.

The vacancy in the presidency made by the election of Mr. Cummings to national president will be contested for by John F. Donnelly of Cambridge, county president of Middlesex county, and Captain John J. Rogers of Worcester.

For secretary John J. Dally, president of division 31, Dorchester, and Mr. Coughlin of South Boston are candidates.

The Ladies Auxiliary will also convene in Fall River the same time as the men's order, and much speculation is rife as to the part they will take in shaping the course of their organization for the coming two years.

HIBERNIANS TO FIGHT MONOPOLY, SAYS CHIEF

This State convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will be the largest of its kind yet held. Since the last biennial convention the organization has increased its membership 4,000. In that time it has paid for sick and death benefits and charitable purposes $190,000. The balance on hand is $510,000. We have a membership of 45,100 men and women.

"The organization has kept up the traditions of the Irish race, instilled racial pride into the hearts and minds of those of our race who never saw the father-land by having Irish history placed in the list of studies in the Catholic schools of the State and in the Public schools of Boston and Pittsfield.

"We have also contributed $50,000 toward maintenance of a chair of Gaelic literature in the Washington University. The Ladies' Auxiliary contributed $15,000 for the higher education of Catholic women in the same institution.

"The advantages which the constitution of these United States hold out to the children of our race and creed are such that every member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, together with the women, if necessary, are willing to shed every drop of blood to protect them from the grasp of monopoly by foes of the people's rights.—Statement to the BOSTON AMERICAN to-day by State President Matthew Cummings of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, who was recently made National President.

SHAW HERE; IS SITE-HUNTING

Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw arrived in Boston Sunday evening on the revenue cutter Mohawk and is spending the greater part of to-day at the Custom House, where he is interviewing the representatives of land owners having locations suitable for the site of the new Appraisers' Stores, for the building of which the last Congress passed an appropriation of $900,000.

Secretary Shaw was very busy this forenoon, and felt compelled to decline an invitation to lunch extended by the Bank President's Association. The Secretary will leave the city at 3:30 o'clock, returning to Washington, and it is not likely that he will decide upon the site for the new Government building to-day.

FEAR RABIES IN CHILDREN BITTEN BY FEROCIOUS CAT

Providence Victims of Mad Feline May Be Sent to Pasteur Institute.

Special to the Boston American.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 27.—Mary Dwyer, aged six years, and Daniel O'Reilly, aged seven, and Dora Lagorge, aged ten, the three children living in Wickenden street, in the India Point district here, who were bitten by an infuriated cat which is believed to have been mad, will have to be sent to the Pasteur Institute for treatment for rabies, in the opinion of the physicians who have attended these children.

The children were playing on the sidewalk near their homes on Friday evening when the cat sprang among them and began to scratch and bite them. They fought it off as best they could, but the animal seemed to have the strength of ten cats. Their cries attracted the neighbors who tried to save the children.

Patrolman Alexander Brown rushed to the rescue and with a blow of his club he knocked the cat down, pinned it to the earth with his foot and then put a bullet through its head.

The head of the cat is now being examined for traces of hydrophobia by Professor Philip B. Hadley, the city bacteriologist.

The Dwyer girl, who is a remarkably bright ad pretty little child, was first attacked, and the maddened animal's teeth drew the blood from the fleshy part of her right hand. Dora Lagorge and Daniel O'Reilly, both bare-legged, were bitten on the right knee, the cat drawing its fangs several times through the flesh of each before it was finally beaten off.

MITE OF A GIRL DOES RECORD 3-MILE SWIM

Rose Pitenof, Aged 11, Swims from Thompson's Island to Commercial Point.

Eleven-year-old Rose Pitenof, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Pitenof of No. 335 Freeport street, Dorchester, after swimming from Thompson's Island to Commercial Point, Dorchester, a distance of three and one-half miles, in one hour and forty-six minutes, yesterday, claims the title of champion girl swimmer of her age of the city.

Accompanied by Instructor De Cost, who taught her swimming three years ago, Charles McColgan, an attendant at the Commercial Point bathhouse, and John Flik, an enthusiastic follower of Miss Pitenof's feats, the start was made from Thompson's Island at 2:04 p. m. At no time during the entire course did she rest or change her mode of action from the breast stroke.

Fully 500 people assembled in the neighborhood of the Commercial Point bathhouse to witness the finish of Rose's extraordinary swim, and as the girl neared the raft of the ladies' department the gathering broke loose and for several minutes the cheering was deafening. When a semblance of quietness was restored one of Miss Pitenof's young men friends mounted the roof of the bathhouse and in a loud and clear voice said: "Three cheers for Rose Pitenof," and they were given unstintedly.

Rose is four feet tall and tips the scales at 73 pounds. She is an attendant of the Mary Hemenway School, Adams street, and bathes daily, rain or shine, during the Summer months. In addition to yesterday's record, Rose is the holder of several other swimming records, varying from twenty yards to a mile in length.

LEAVES ONLY $5,000 INSTEAD OF MILLIONS

Contest for Appleton Property Not Likely if Estimate of Estate Is Correct.

That the fortune of Captain Nathan Appleton, who died here Saturday, amount to a bare $5,000, instead of millions, as has been generally supposed, is the statement of his sister, Mrs. S. Greeley Curtis of Manchester-by-the-Sea. If the estimate of Mrs. Curtis be correct the legal controversy over the disposition of his estate which it was feared might follow the reading of his will, in which it is anticipated he will leave a large proportion to Miss Edith R. Wills, whom he was to marry, will probably not be forthcoming.

Although Mrs. Curtis would not say that a contest had been contemplated if the estate had been willed to Miss Wills, she did not positively deny that such a step was in contemplation, preferring to answer the question by saying that she was not yet aware of the contents of the will.

Mrs. Curtis did make the startling statement, however, that she did not believe her brother's fortune at the time of his death amounted to more than $5,000 at the very outside.

Mrs. Appleton, the captain's divorced wife, the only other party who would be directly interested in the distribution of the estate, is supposed to be abroad.

LIFE TOO FAST FOR OLD JOHN D.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 27.—John D. Rockefeller is out for the simple life. He deplores the present-day tendency to rush headlong into everything. He conversed for twenty minutes on the subject yesterday, delaying the opening of Sunday school at the Euclid Avenue Baptist Chuch. He discussed newspapers in the East and joked about the heat.

"I suppose the heat will be reflected in the headlines of the papers to-day," he said.

Mr. Rockefeller said the rapid life the Americans are leading was reflected in the New York newspapers. "We are leading an awfully fast life in this country. The newspapers for the most part keep apace of the times. People see the big lines, rush to read the paper, rush off again to read some other paper and rush to a fire. It is rush, rush, all the time."

ASKS AMERICAN TO HELP FIND SISTERS

Peter Power of No. 18 Julian street, Roxbury has asked the BOSTON AMERICAN to help him locate his half sisters, Elizabeth and Mary Hartery, who were brought up in St. Michaels Orphanage, Belvedere, St. John's, Newfoundland. All he knows is that they left there six or seven years ago, going to Montreal and from there to Boston.

74 DAYS

have elapsed since the BOSTON AMERICAN filed with the Attorney-General a formal information and petition that he bring suit to force the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and the Boston & Albany Railroad to obey the law and to abandon the competing trolley lines which they have illegally acquired.

The Attorney-General has delayed action until the New Haven road has disposed of its holdings secretly to a "voluntary association" organized by itself which is not subject to the control of the State Railroad Commissioners.

RECTOR TELLS NEWPORT 400 SUNDAY WHIST IS O. K.

"As a Man Thinketh, So He Is" Declares Society's Favorite Pastor.

Special to the Boston American.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 27.—Rector Walter Lowrie preached to the "400" at Trinity Church yesterday from the text, "The Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath."

He said he had no intention of haranguing his people about their sins. He had been told that he could have spoken plainer on the subject of gambling Sunday before last, but he realized that he had an audience to deal with that was not obtuse.

No Harangue on Sin.

Furthermore, it was dangerous to remind people of their sins. He said he was endowed with a forlorn independence that would render it easy to remind others of their shortcomings, but he also had philosophy enough to know that it would do no good.

In regard to Sunday bridge, that certain women have banded themselves together to play, referring obviously to the Bridge Club in the Travers bungalow on Ocean drive, he stated that if they thought it was right, then right it was, "for as a man thinketh, so he is." Anything is right to do on Sunday if it is not harmful in itself.

"Four Hundred" Turns Out.

The rector closed by reminding his flock that the shamefacedness of their arguments in justifying this use of the Sabbath showed doubt in their own minds. Even an obtuse audience could not but feel that they were not altogether blameless.

The largest audience that Trinity has held this Summer listened to the sermon.

Newport society is in a quandary in view of the scathing rebuke which Rector Lowrie two weeks ago gave to members of his congregation who gambled. He included card playing in his remarks and made it clear then that it was wrong to play for stakes with the pasteboards. Whether the pastor is backing water or not the members of his congregation are not quite clear now.

Some of the older members of the congregation declared that Mr. Lowrie's sermon was too liberal, especially after his late severe arraignment of gambling two weeks ago.

In the congregation were many Boston people. Mr. Lowrie is well known in Boston, where up to a year ago he was curate of Emmanuel Church.

SHOOTS WIFE; TRIES SUICIDE

WILLIAMSTOWN, Aug. 27.—On the charge of killing his wife, whose body, with a bullet hole through the heart, was found last night lying in the kitchen at their home, William Meloin Berry, aged 40, who has been under police surveillance at the North Adams hospital suffering from a slight bullet wound in the scalp, will probably be arraigned to-day, the authorities say.

Berry appeared in a dazed condition when the crime was discovered, and refused to say anything except to indicate where the revolver might be found. The cause of the shooting is not known, but according to his daughter, Mary, who discovered the body, Berry has been subject to jealousy without cause. The police say he attempted to shoot himself. Miss Berry notified Dr. W. A. Nelson, who said the woman had been dead apparently for several hours.

STEERSBALLOON BY FOOT POWER

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—After a flight of nearly 200 miles in his new balloon Dr. Julian P. Thomas descended yesterday at Oakdale, N. Y. He started on his trip Saturday evening from New York. With him was his brother, Jefferson D. Thomas of Augusta, Ga.

The balloon was equipped with several of Dr. Thomas's devices to regulate his flight. The principal attachment was a metal propeller, attached to a bicycle frame and pedals, designed to guide the balloon laterally and perpendicularly by foot power.

In testing this propeller Dr. Thomas found that he was able to turn the great bag in any direction, sideways or up or down. But at an altitude of 1,000 feet the exertion of pedaling told on his lungs and he was obliged to rest.

YOUNG ROOSEVELT IN TRAIN WRECK; SAFE

ST. PAUL, Aug. 27.—Kermit Roosevelt received a scare and a shaking up by the wreck of a train in which he was coming east from a visit to his father's old ranch at Medora, N. D., yesterday. A split switch derailed five coaches of the train carrying Roosevelt and his friend, John Heard, but none of the passengers were injured.

Whiting & Company of Harrison avenue, where he has been employed for twenty-one years. He has not been seen since.

The Kings were married a little over a year ago. Mr. King was a man of exemplary habits, and his relatives are inclined to believe that he has met with foul play. He was about forty-five years old, weighs 135 pounds, is about 5 feet and 5 inches tall, and has a large and prominent mouth.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—"Never will I be led into playing in the rain again," said Fred Tenney yesterday, after the Cubs had knocked the lights out of his little squad. The field was so wet neither Chance nor the Boston manager cared about chasing the ball on the slippery plot before about 3,500 fans who had gathered. President Murphy coaxed them both into it, however, to the Boston man's disgust.

Overall and Pfeffer are scheduled to do the pitching this afternoon. The latter has never been especially easy for the Cubs, while the Boston team actually lit on Overall once for a win.

The Indians are in town!

The Indians will battle with the Pilgrims the same as the red men fought against the men who came over in the Mayflower 'way back in 1620. In those days the Pilgrims came out on top, but it is a gamble whether the Pilgrims of to-day, under the leadership of one James Collins, will be able to manifest their superiority.

The Clevelands are in fourth place. The three defeats administered them by the Highlanders have taken a great deal of the fighting spirit out of them, and it will be a very tame bunch that the Rathskellers attack for the first time to-day.

When the two teams clashed before, the Bostons won two out of three games, and they hope to at least duplicate that feat in the present series.

The Collinsites are playing great ball. Last week they won three out of six games against such gritty teams as the Tigers and the Ravens. They are hitting and fielding well; their pitchers are rounding into shape, and their team work is much better than it has ever been before this season.

The Pilgrims have a hard week before them. They not only play the Naps three games, but on Thursday, Friday and Saturday they will line up against the Athletics, present champions of the American League.

Both the Naps and the Athletics will play hard against the Bostons, as the two defeats administered to the White Sox by the Senators have imbued them with new courage, and they believe that the Windy City team can be overhauled and defeated for the American League flag.

It is a much changed team that the Bostons meet to-day from the nine which they encountered when the Forest City aggregation was last seen in the Hub. The Naps have many players out with injuries, and naturally will not be able to use their full scrapping strength against the locals.

The great Napoleon Lajoie is now holding down the third sack in lieu of Bill Bradley, who is out of the game with a broken wrist. Stovall, who has been covering first most of the time since he joined the Indians, is covering second. Blondy Turner is also out of the lineup, Barbeau, the utility man, filling his shoes. Rossman is covering first base.

Bay is still out of the game, and Elmer Flick is taking the place of the fleet-footed one in centre field. Congalton is taking Flick's place at right, and a new man named Caffrey is covering left field.

This week may see Lou Criger, the star catcher of the Collinsites, once more back in the game. Lou made an attempt to catch against the White Sox, but split his finger in the first inning and has been out of the game since.

The Bostons have certainly picked up a treasure in Bill Carrigan, the Holy Cross man. He is catching a remarkable game for a recruit, and such experienced hands as Bill Dineen and Cy Young declare him a marvel. They say that he has a great head and possesses the ability of steadying down a pitcher.

Bill Dineen is carded to pitch for Boston to-day, while Bill Bernhard will probably do the pitching for the Naps.

Otto Sieloff vs. H. Norton, Ludington, Mich.
FRIDAY.
Percy Cove vs. Bobby Johnson, Everett, Wash.
SATURDAY.
J. Tracey vs. C. Dancer, Cincinnati.

While the present week has few bouts of interest scheduled, the week following has at least two dozen good scraps for the fans to follow.

There being no meeting in Chelsea, the fans will have to content themselves with discussing the big events to come off next week. The only bouts of any great interest to the local sports are those to be held in Lymansville, R. I., to-morrow night and that in Dublin, Ire., Thursday night.

At the Rhode Island club Rudolph Unholz, the South African champion who has been making good since he came here, is to meet Eddie Chambers, a tough customer from Philadelphia. While the latter is not very clever he is a good puncher.

Dick Hyland, who skipped out of here and out of the fight with Kid Aby Goodman after his manager, Red Sam McClintick saw the letter written by Aleck Greggains to Billy Pierce, in which the program for trimming Sammy was laid out, will fight at Los Angeles Tuesday. Thompson is spoken of as a good lightweight. Hyland is coming along finely, and if anywhere near as good as he is claimed should win.

Colored Fighter Accepts Siler for Referee

GANS ONLY WANTS FAIR DEAL

"All I have to say at the present time, is that I hope Mr. Siler will treat us both alike and that he will not have to disqualify either of us for foul fighting. To tell the truth everything about the contest is so far advanced that I don't care who referees it. I would as leave have Billy Nolan as Siler. If we both fight fair, there will be very little for the referee to say or do. The fight will referee itself."—Statement of Joe Gans.

GOLDFIELD, Nev., Aug. 27.—Joe Gans exploded a bomb here to-day by announcing that he would not fight with Battling Nelson on Labor Day if George Siler were not removed from his position as referee and another man procured. For a time there was a great deal of trouble in the camp, but the Goldfield Athletic Club directors held a meeting and settled the matter amicably with Gans. Siler will be the referee, as a result.

When Siler's name was first put up for the position of referee Gans had no objections to make. Billy Nolan, acting for Battling Nelson, was entirely satisfied with Siler as well, and further, Siler was chosen for the position at a special meeting of the club directors. But there was one person opposed to Siler, and that was Larry Sullivan, the president of the Goldfield Trust Company. Sullivan did not say that he expected to see any dishonesty on Siler's part, but declared that he would rather have another man, as the Chicagoan was altogether too friendly with Nelson and Nolan. When Gans gave his consent to Siler, however, Sullivan said he was satisfied. It was thought that Gans's sudden objection was due to something which he heard from Sullivan.

Sullivan Objected.

When the directors met, Sullivan was present, acting for Gans. He said that he had reason to believe that Siler was not entirely the right man, and preferred to have another choice made. To this the directors replied that they had already made the contract with Siler, and that they could not very well back out. A long discussion ensued, and the upshot of it was that Sullivan reversed his decision, but only on the condition that the club guarantee the integrity of its choice for referee. The directors have absolute faith in Siler's honesty, and were prepared to guarantee that he would do nothing questionable in rendering his decision.

Sullivan returned to Gans's camp and told him what had happened, and the "smoke" was satisfied.

"As long as the club officials guarantee me that there will be no underhand work I am satisfied to fight with Siler as referee. I have heard a great deal about Siler's friendliness for the Battler, and I am not going to take any chances, as this fight means a great deal for me."

In carrying through the Gans-Nelson fight the people of Goldfield will follow the beaten paths altogether. More than likely they will administer quite a jolt to some of the traditions of sportdom, but when all is said the end in view justifies whatever original means they may employ.

The officials of the Goldfield Athletic Club, for one thing, intend to have a heart to heart talk with Siler when he arrives here. They want him to enlighten them as to his views on certain matters which are liable to crop up in almost any contest, and they want to post him in regard to the possible contingencies they would like him to watch for and act upon promptly. The fact that George Siler knows the game of judging pugilistic happenings from A to Z cuts no figure with these sagebrush promoters. They see in the fight a grand advertisement for this young and vigorous mining camp, and they are determined not only that it shall go down in history as a square contest, but that it shall be referred to as a bout that was marked by the fairest of play and the most intelligent handling.

Fight Is on the Level.

"I think we have convinced most persons that the fight will be on the level," said Tex Rickard to the writer to-day. "From the moment we got Nelson and Gans together and outlined our plans and proposals to them, none of us on the ground had any misgivings as to the squareness of the affair. Gans, who was reported to be the real subject for kindly advice and timely warning, knew just how things stood before he had been here many hours. I know that in a little talk I had with him he said, 'Why Mr. Rickard, even if I was inclined that way, I'd think a whole lot before I'd attempt to do anythink wrong here. Why, they'd kill me.' I may say, however, that I am firmly convinced that Gans is ambitious to defeat Nelson, and he'll fight like a wildcat."

This was the first day of the ticket sale and the receipts were $21,000 in cash. Ola Elliott, who has been installed as ticket seller, says the reservations amount to $7,000, so that the first day's receipts have brought in a number very close to the amount of the prize money. It is said that the choice seats to the number of 150 have been set aside for visitors from San Francisco and that practically all others have been disposed of. General admission tickets, those at $5, will not be on sale until the day of the contest.

There is plenty of betting to-day, and not a few heavy wagers, if one can believe all he hears. For instance, Larry Sullivan, manager of Gans, is credited with betting $2,400 against $2,000 to-day, a mining man known as "Shorty" Kendall taking the Nelson end. It was further reported that Carl [illegible], who a few days ago placed $700, backing Nelson, against $1,000 of the other end, furnished by the same Larry Sullivan, wired Sullivan to-day that he had collected $11,000 Nelson money in Manhattan and wanted to know how much of it Sullivan would bet against it. Sullivan's answer was that he would cover the entire amount, wagering $17,000 against the Manhattan pool.

BIG FIELD OF FAST HORSES AT READVILLE

PROBABLE WINNERS AT READVILLE.

2:07 CLASS, PACING.
Prince Hal, first; Red Bird, second; Surfreet, third.
2:13 CLASS, TROTTING.
Mackmack, first; Imperial Allerton, second; Allie Jay, third.
2:15 CLASS, TROTTING.
Totara, first; Jennie Scott, second; India, third.

BY EDWARD E. COGSWELL.

With the fields of horses so closely matched in point of speed in the three events at Readville this afternoon the opening of the second week of the grand circuit meeting should attract a large crowd to see the sport.

First called is the 2:07 pace; then the 2:13 and the 2:15 trotting classes. Looking over the lists carefully, in each race are no less than half a dozen horses with a most excellent chance of heading the summary.

Prominent in the pace is noted Prince Hal, Red Bird, Surfreet, Darkey Hal, Peruna, Ed. C. and Edwin S. In the 2:13 trot the names of Mackmack, Imperial Allerton, Betty Brook, Exalted, MacDougall, Jack Wilkes, Mary Scott and Kinsters stand forth as dangerous factors, while the 2:15 trot is well represented by Totara, India, Jennie Scott, Lady Resolute, Nancy Nelson, Charlie T., etc.

All through the coming week Secretary C. M. Jewett was successful in securing a classing of horses unheard of in the history of the turf. The races are in most instances worthy of the calibre only secured in $5,000 and $10,000 events. All of the stake horses have elected to remain at Readville during the week to start in the class races.

This was brought about through the generosity of the New England Breeders' Association stepping in and taking the dates which were allotted to Providence, thus giving the horsemen the opportunity of racing their horses in place of having to lay idle. Fully appreciating the liberality the horsemen entered to a man in the races.

PLANS FIXED IN ROOSEVELT CUP RACES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Off the Massachusetts coast, beginning Monday, September 3, the yacht races for what is known as the Roosevelt Cup will take place. The races are international in that both American and German yachts will compete in the races, which are scheduled to take place on Monday, September 3; Wednesday, September 5; Thursday, September 6; Saturday, September 8; Monday, September 10, and Tuesday, September 11.

The rules regulating the races, promulgated by the Revenue Cutter Service, are similar to those followed by the New York Yacht Club during the international races of 1903, in so far as the difference in the conditions would apear to necessitate.

The legs of the races are to be two and a half miles each instead of five miles, and the yachts are to go twice around the course. In the windward and leeward the legs are three miles each instead of six miles, and the yachts are to go twice around the course.

The regulations prescribed by the Revenue Cutter Service provide for the keeping clear of the course of the race. All vessels except those carrying the patrol flag must keep outside of the patrol lines.

FRENCHMEN HERE FOR CUP RACE

BY J. C. KERRISON.

Gustave Caillois and Hubert Le Bon, the French racing motorists, who arrived in this country on Saturday, are now established at the Thomas factory in Buffalo superintending the finishing work on the three racing machines constructed for the Vanderbilt elimination trials. These two experts, together with Mortimer Roberts, will comprise the Thomas field of entries for the Vanderbilt, and they are each expected to accomplish good results in the same. Caillois has done excellent work in international events abroad and last year finished second to Thery in the Gordon Bennett elimination, while Le Bon established all the world's steam records created during the five years previous to this year. In four of his big races he has been accompanied by his wife, who acted as his mechanician. The third member of the trio is an American, who in the eliminations of a year ago gained an enviable reputation for himself, and brought his machine home among the leaders, being later eliminated by the committee.

* * *

A notable gathering of the officers and heads of departments of the various Pope enterprises is now being held in Toledo, for the purpose of inspecting the plant, and especially the new 1907 "Pope-Toledo" and the new 120-horse power racer, which is now on the streets, geting its preliminary trials. This car has been entered in the Vanderbilt Cup race as one of the American team. The well-known driver, Lytle, says it is really the first racer he has ever driven, and great things are expected from both driver and the car this year. Bert Dingley, who won the elimination race last year, will act as mechanic for Mr. Lytle this year.

There are also present at the meeting most of the principal "Pope-Toledo" dealers from all parts of the country.

Type XV. is made entirely from chrome nickel steel, fitted throughout with the genuine imported Hess-Bright bearings. The new car is fitted with a new transmission system of the selective type with four speeds forward and one reverse, and with multiple metal disc clutch running in oil.

The car will be fifty-horsepower, four cylinders, the cylinders being case in pairs; individual copper water jackets for each pair of cylinders. Ignition will be by means of gear driven magneto. The wheel base this year will be 115-inch, as against 104-inch last year; thirty-six-inch wheels to be used, front and rear, instead of thirty-four-inch wheels as heretofore.

A notable improvement has been made, i. e., by having the differentials in individual casing by themselves and in direct connection with the jack shaft, the bevel gears being in separate casing, all of which, of course, run in oil. The lines of the body have been greatly altered and improved, and, with the addition of the two individual emergency seats, ample room for seven adults is provided.

Another noteworthy feature of the 1907 car is the accessibility of the engine, which is arranged on the sub-frame so that it may be removed by simply pulling forward after having taken off the [illegible]. The steering arrangement is of the irreversible worm and segment type, and operates in an adjustable dust and mud proof casting. The steering post has a more decided tilt than heretofore, which greatly improves its general appearance.

The spark and throttle levers are situated on the steering wheel, but instead of revolving are stationary this year, or, in other words, they do not turn with the steering wheel.

L. B. Butler of the Butler Motor Car Company is about to start on a ten-day trip through the West, during which time he will visit the Pierce, Racine and Rapid factories, with a view of securing the latest information relative to those lines of cars.

J. M. Linscott of the Linscott Motor Car pany is no win the West, spending several days at the Reo and National factories, which lines of cars he handled last season and will continue during the coming year.

YALE MAY SEND MEN ABROAD NEXT YEAR

NEW HAVEN, Aug. 27.—It was learned to-day that the Yale crew had made partial and informal arrangements to row the Cambridge University eight in England on condition that Yale won the annual race from Harvard this season. Correspondence had passed, and both universities were willing to have the race rowed, although nothing formal had been done, both waiting to see what the outcome of the Yale-Harvard race was.

After Harvard beat Yale, Harvard took up the negotiations and clinched a race. Yale rowing men are anxious to send their crew to England another year, and it is extremely probable that it will go to the English Thames in case it defeats the Harvard eight first.

Lemon Juice Is Fair Woman's Newest Beauty Secret

Will Cure a Headache, Smooth Out Wrinkles, And Is the Stout Woman's Homely But Good Secret of Getting Thin

THERE is nothing which will make a woman sensitive about her appearance so quickly as to become stout.

Most people fancy when litheness and slimness have flown that time has reached the awkward milestone in a woman's age.

Hence the abhorrence of the average woman for the fuller lines which creep unawares into the contour of her figure.

A woman would rather be scrawny and bony any time than to be called stout. She will do anything, foolish or otherwise, to keep down this plumpness.

If she takes it in time there is no trouble in remedying the woes of the stout woman. She is much better off than the thin woman in this respect.

The remedial properties of the lemon for those who are too fat are too often overlooked. The lemon is almost an indispensable adjunct to the toilet of a woman. This homely little fruit holds health-giving properties that every woman should hasten to use.

Try curing a headache by pressing slices of lemon to the forehead just over the eyes. It is very often a successful treatment.

The juice of a lemon in a glass of water half an hour before eating will keep the digestive apparatus in fine condition. For the first day divide the juice of three lemons into three parts, add one of these portions to a glass of water and take it half an hour after each meal. On alternate days take in the same way some alkaline solution.

Little liquid should be taken during meals; a cup of tea or coffee taken at the end of the meal or a glass of water is all that is permissible.

To keep down the accumulation of flesh which is so apt to show in the form of a double chin, rub outward and upward with the tips of the fingers. This can be done a dozen times a day whenever you think about it. Rubbing against the tissue breaks up the fat cells and keeps the original contour of the chin and cheek. This, if faithfully followed up, is a sure preventive.

To build in the flesh where the lines are too flat, as in the arm which is too bony to wear the popular short sleeve, rub with the tissue. This will encourage the formation of fat cells just where you want them.

Thus it is seen that practically a woman has at her command the means to make her figure whatever she wills.

Odd Facts and Fancies About World's Women

ONLY one woman in 100 insures her life.

Sarah Bernhardt has a large bed fifteen feet long.

Can Everybody Make A Success of Life?

YES, certainly. An improvement in circumstances is within the range of practically every man's life, and that is success as we talk about it on this page.

There is another kind of success which is compatible with material failure, and this we have not forgotten to deal with. You may gain the whole world and forfeit yourself. But a modern writer recently complained that we and others were too hopeful, and made it out that everybody can succeed. So they can.

A man who starts at $5 a week and retires at sixty with a safe income of $20 or $25 a week has succeeded in this world's struggle. You don't hear about him in the papers, for he is only a working man, but he is a material success.

Of course, some men would call $25 a week mere penury; they want $100 and work until they get it. Others want $5 a minute, and it is said that J. D. Rockefeller counts his money in this manner.

Well, it is all relative. There is no gallon measure for earthly prosperity. We don't mark men off by a foot rule. We simply say if you want to "get on," you can. There is no disgrace in poverty, and there is no virtue in it. But there is plenty of misery in it. So don't be poor if you can avoid it. Follow Wesley's rule of getting all you can, saving all you can and giving all you can. And don't forget the giving!

TOILET TABLE SUGGESTIONS

THE following mole salve is tried and true: Diachylon plaster, ½ ounce; tartar emetic, 1 dram; croton oil, 5 drops. The plaster should be spread the precise size of the mole. It should be left on until the mole suppurates, then remove and allow to heal.

* * *

Equal quantities of lemon juice, listerine and glycerine make an excellent mouth wash.

* * *

To develop the neck bathe it with warm water, then rub with olive oil, using a rotary motion. In the morning use cold water and rub with alcohol.

* * *

To develop the body, drink plenty of milk and take a teaspoonful of olive oil three times a day. Sleep during the day for a few minutes and exercise in the open air.

* * *

If the baby is troubled with prickly heat, perhaps it is dressed too warmly. Loosen the clothing and make it a little lighter. Dissolve a small teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda in his bath. You might also bathe the affected parts with diluted witch hazel, using a soft linen cloth.

* * *

A good shampoo for fair hair is made by combining the juice of two lemons with two teaspoonfuls of salt of tartar and a quart of water. The salts of tartar should be first dissolved in the water, which is warm; then add the lemon juice, strained. There will be a moment of effervescing when the lemon juice and salts of tartar meet. Wait until this ceases before using the shampoo. After thoroughly washing hair and scalp, rinse clean in several clear waters and dry the hair in the sun.

The Man Outside

Copyright, 1906, by American-Journal-Examiner.

"BUT the police will have to be told," said Olga slowly.

Freda had kept silent about these vital facts of the case, that she alone knew, believing it would all come right some day!—a child's self justification for an omission or a fault.

It was useless to argue with one so incapable of comprehending any trouble but her own. It was foolish to blame her for the limitations of her nature.

Yet, though Olga realized this, the deep tenderness she had always borne to her sister was cruelly wounded.

"No, no! You promised, Olga! I wouldn't have told you if you hadn't promised not to speak of it. They might lock me up, too—but you only said that to frighten me. You don't mean it? You won't tell Olga?" she cried hysterically, seizing Olga's hand.

"Hush!" cried the other gently, touched by Freda's distress, selfish though it was. "You'll only draw attention to us. And I want you to listen to what I'm going to say. I made no such promise, of course, and unless the police are told the guilty person can never be brought to justice. Freda, you can't be so heartless as to want your sister to remain with this terrible accusation hanging over her, or Mr. March——"

"But it will come all right in time!" cried Freda again, with all a child's imperviousness to argument.

"Time does not right all wrongs. Your silence might have broken two lives—mine, Mr. March's. The story must be told, and if, as you say, you only took those trinkets on an impulse and then were too frightened to speak, I do not think you will be punished."

A judge would realize Freda's irresponsibility and treat the theft accordingly, she felt sure. "But, until the truth is told, how can there be any hope of finding the man you speak of——"

"But I'm so frightened—I wish I'd never told you! You used not to be so unkind," cried Freda miserably, in her childish way. "I didn't want to come a bit, and I wish I hadn't come." She broke off abruptly. "How startled you look, Olga! What is it?"

Olga had seen a figure pass the window, the man whom Freda had spoken of as having stared at her in the station.

When Freda first mentioned him she had thought nothing of it, except that he was a passenger who had changed at this station to catch another train. Freda was so pretty that many persons stared at her. But as he glanced in now, a sudden startled suspicion had taken possession of her.

Danger Ahead

He was a man who somehow now, as she looked at him, struck her as not being like an ordinary passenger. He carried himself stiffly; there was in his face the suggestion of a man on the alert; he had darted a swift glance through the window as he passed by that was not at all the casual, careless glance of an ordinary passenger waiting for a train.

Was he there with a definite object, to watch Freda, and find out whom she had come to-day to meet? Olga's instinct leapt to that swift conclusion. The man was an officer in plain clothes watching them.

They had tracked her through Freda!

A sense of utter powerlessness swept over Olga, a feeling that for the first moment was almost panic. It seemed as though she were hopelessly trapped, with this man guarding the waiting room.

Trapped! At the realization of it, all the horror of her breathless flight from the police, after her escape from the wrecked train, rushed back into her mind—flying like a hunted creature, hiding behind fences, driven by fear like a hare before hounds; all that old horror surged back upon her in this moment.

Had she escaped only to be caught now? With a desperate effort of will she summoned her courage and pulled herself together—forced herself to think collectedly; was there a way of escape?

Desperate Chances

Probably this man would not attempt to arrest her; in her disguise, though he might suspect who she was, he could not be certain, and he would not arrest her until he was absolutely certain.

His natural plan would be to follow her, ascertain where she went, where she was staying. If he succeeded in doing that she was lost and John Herries would be implicated, too.

It would be known he had shielded an escaped prisoner in defiance of the law. Almost inevitably, too, the police would learn who John Herries was. Could she escape?

At least she had managed to communicate with Freda without giving her address. Even if Freda were questioned and admitted that she had been with her sister, no information could be elicited from her, or the people in whose house she was staying, what her sister's address was—if only the man could be shaken off now.

Was it possible?

At least she would not be caught without making a dash for escape. The thought of those grim prison walls to which she would be taken back unless she could shake the man off nerved her; she was suddenly quite cool again outwardly, though every nerve in her was quivering. She turned to her sister, quickly.

"Freda, I must leave you now," she said, giving no reason for her sudden determination; it was safest to tell Freda nothing.

"You will take the next train back."

She bent hurriedly and kissed Freda, but stood waiting till the man passed the window again.

A Sudden Move

Olga stole cautiously to the door and peeped out; the man was walking down the platform now in the direction away from the exit. She paused till he had proceeded some little distance from the waiting room—paused as long as she dared, feeling that at any moment he might turn and retrace his steps.

She darted quickly out, along the platform, down the steps toward the station entrance.

As she gained the foot of the steps Olga cast a quick glance round, and her heart sank. Perhaps his suspicions would be crystallized into a certainty by her flight; he might even be armed with the authority to arrest her now. Could she escape?

Outside the station one cab only was waiting, and that fact put new courage into her—inspired her with a sudden plan. It was a four-wheeler, the driver of which sat on his box leisurely filling a clay pipe with shreds he was cutting from a plug of tobacco. She ran up to him.

"There is a man following me, annoying me, whom I am anxious to avoid," she whispered breathlessly. She opened her purse and thrust a five-dollar bill into the man's hand. "I want you to do this. Drive me at once to the next corner and around into One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street. But stop as soon as you are well around the corner, that I may slip out; then drive quickly on down for at least a mile, as though I were still in the cab!"

"I'm on," the cabman responded instantly. "I'll earn the five; you make your mind easy!"

A Lively Chase

Olga jumped in, the cabman touched the horse with his whip, just as her pursuer appeared at the exit. He cried out something as he saw Olga in the moving cab; the cabman did not even turn his head.

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

By Beatrice Fairfax

A DIFFICULT POSITION

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I have been going with a young lady for several months who is several years my senior, and promised to marry her.

My folks objected to her on account of some rumors they heard about her family and made it very unpleasant for me every time they heard that I saw her, and I was told that I must either give her up or leave home.

Will you kindly let me know whether I was wrong, as I still think well of the girl, but under no circumstances could I induce my folks to think well of her.

J. K.

IT is a very difficult position to be placed in, and one in which your feelings must decide your course of action. Naturally, you love your parents, and would like to do as they wish. But if you really love the girl and have won her love, you owe a duty to her. You are probably old enough to know which you love best; let your heart decide. If you are sure you love the girl and want her for your wife, be true to her. Your family have no actual right to dictate to you in your choice of a wife.

Watch for Name of Doll House Winner

Announcement Will Be Made Next Saturday

THE Doll House Editor is hard at work all day long reading the thousands of letters from little girls who want to win the doll house.

There are so many splendid letters that it is going to be pretty hard to select the very best, and the Doll House Editor asks the multitude of anxious little girls to be patient until next Saturday, when the name of the lucky little girl will be printed.

Meanwhile some of the best letters will be printed every day. Watch for your letter, if it has not yet appeared. Of course all the nice letters cannot be printed, but yours may be published any day.

Remember, no more letters will be received. Saturday was the last day for mailing letters. Here are some of the best received:

PERFECT LADIES

DEAR DOLL EDITOR:

I would make the beds every morning, sweep the house thoroughly every Friday; clean the silver twice a week, and get the meals regularly. I would dust every morning and then clean the brasswork. I would bring my children up to be perfect ladies and gentlemen, and keep them always neat and clean. I would give them the best education possible and bring them up to be useful to other people and to the world.

PRISCILLA ALDEN WILLIAMS
(9 years),
No. 11 Glenwood avenue, Newton Centre.

HAVE A GARDEN

DEAR DOLL EDITOR:

I would keep house by making beds, sweeping, dusting, washing, ironing and cooking. I would make the children's clothes and mend the worn ones. I would give the children good nourishing food to keep them healthy and well. I should have a vegetable garden in the back yard, just enough for the family. I should take the children out good days, and stormy days they could play in the playroom.

LOUISE MANGENE, 11 years.
No. 317 Lynn street, Linden.

PLAY THE PIANO

DEAR DOLL EDITOR:

I would try to keep the house clean. I would get up early, get the breakfast, tidy the house, then give baby a bath and put her to sleep; get dinner, then do the dishes, keep the children neat. They must be polite and help each other. They must do their practicing on the piano in the morning. Get supper, and all go to bed early so as to be strong children. Then during the vacation I will take them to the beaches. They must obey me. I think I would be very happy with "The Happy Family."

OLIVE M. FELLOWS, 10 years.
No. 115 Market street, Amesbury.

LEARNING FAST

DEAR DOLL EDITOR:

If I had a house of my own, I would wash on Monday, iron on Tuesday, mend on Wednesday, sweep and clean on Thursday and Friday, and bake on Saturday. On Sunday I would go to church and have my children go to Sunday school. I am a little girl, ten years old. My father is dead and I live with my mamma and grandparents. My mamma teaches me to be a nice housekeeper, so that when I grow up I will know how to take care of my own house.

DOROTHY ELSA HEINDL, 10 years.
No. 130 Day street, Jamaica Plain.

READ IN EVENING

DEAR DOLL EDITOR:

If I were a mother I would get up early in the morning, light the fire, wash and dress children, get breakfast, wash the dishes, then put rooms to air, then sweep and tidy up the house. Then I would go to market and get the dinner, and afterwards wash dishes, sweep the floor, blacken the stove. Afterwards I would take the children out for a walk, then come home and get supper. After supper put the children to bed and read the BOSTON AMERICAN.

MARGARET GRIFFIN, 11 years.
No. 8 Tufts street, Charlestown.

FOR AN OUTING

DEAR DOLL EDITOR:

If I were keeping house I would keep it neat and clean and do my work systematically. I would have a garden to raise my vegetables. I would teach my children to be polite to everyone, especially to old people. I would see that they are properly bathed in the morning. In the Summer if possible, I would have them in the country or the beach. I would try to give them a good education and see that they are in good company. If I had girls I would teach them to sew and cook and keep their rooms tidy.

EMMA LINSLER, 12 years.
Bay street, Sharon.

VERY LITTLE MEAT

DEAR DOLL EDITOR:

I would buy nice fresh vegetables and fruit and very little meat. I would teach them manners and politeness. Every morning I would give my children a bath and dress them and air the beds. Then I would get breakfast. After breakfast I would send my children out to play while I do my work. Mondays I would do my washing; Tuesday, iron; Wednesday, mending; Thursday, visiting; Friday, sweeping and dusting. Saturday I would do enough cooking to last over Sunday. Sunday, go to church, rest and read the Bible. I would keep a happy family for the happy house.

CATHERINE HANLEY, 10 years.
No. 66 Raymond street, East Weymouth.

PLENTY OF FRUIT

DEAR DOLL EDITOR:

If I were housekeeping, I would wash and iron on Mondays and Tuesdays, mend on Wednesdays. Thursdays I would sweep and clean. Fridays I would cook, and Saturdays I would do my marketing. I would give my children the best food I could, but nothing too sweet or greasy and plenty of fruit. I would put them to bed at 8:30, and would have them up at 7. Breakfast would be ready at 7:30. On Sundays I would send my children to church and Sunday school. I would treat my children kindly and expect them to respect all their relatives.

Manager Says People of Hub Lead the World in Fondness for Shooting the Chutes.

PLAY MUSIC PEOPLE WANT

Seldom has there been within the reach of residents of Greater Boston as popular an attraction as the "Fatal Wedding" at Wonderland. It is an illusion, drawn from old Paris, with its weird situations and uncanny spectacles that, while very true and real, are not repulsive. There is a strange interest in the "Fatal Wedding" that calls its audience back for a second entertainment.

The theatre itself is one of the finest seen in any Summer show park in the country. The designs are all carried out to accord with the nature of the exhibition and in this the designers have been very successful. The walls are of green, with here and there a painting portraying human emotions. One of the most unique of the furnishings is a large chandelier which hangs from the lofty ceiling to the front of the stage. It is made up of human bones and skulls and when the hall is darkened the eyes are seen to flash lights of green and red. The chandelier is made after the design of those in the "Restaurant of Death" in Paris, one of the most widely known resorts for the tourist and a place made famous during the seventeenth century, when it was a popular rendezvous for notorious highwaymen.

Weird and Laughable.

In this theatre one finds somewhat of the atmosphere of the French resort. On all sides are cunningly devised ideas that give the visitor a sense of the uncanny, with many ludicrous features besides. Manager Pelton announces that there are sixty laughs during the fifteen minutes' performance and he surely keeps his word. It is the funny side of everything seen there that drives away the gruesome and makes this one of the most enjoyable spectacles to be found within the gates of the park.

In order that the sceptical visitor may have the opportunity to go through the experience of "being married by electricity," Mr. Pelton invites someone from the audience to volunteer to be the subject. The wedding is mystifying. The bride and groom, standing in full view, are seen to slowly fade into skeletons. Then at another word they come back into their living selves again.

Then the groom is bidden to the wedding feast. Seated at a table, his bride brings before him tempting viands and wine. At every attempt to reach the spread he clutches only at air, while the audience, convulsed with laughter, sees his hands penetrate through the roast turkey or bottle of wine. His bride, too, is equally as elusive. While she stands before him his arms, eager to embrace, are seen to clasp nothing but air.

As Guests of American.

Every purchaser of the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN is invited to visit as a guest the "Fatal Wedding" on Tuesday of this week, or any reader may go free for a ride on the chutes on Monday. Tickets for admission to Wonderland were printed Sunday.

A most fascinating and popular sport is "shooting the chutes." Mr. Howard, the manager, says that in all the cities in which he has conducted chutes, and the list contains many, he has never seen people so completely carried away by the fun as Bostonians. "Boston people find more downright amusement in 'shooting the chutes,'" he says, "than any other class of people I ever saw. The dash of the Bostonians, their eagerness for new sensations, is, I suppose, the reason for this."

The chutes at Wonderland are the loftiest and longest of any in the world. The incline is 218 feet in length, and when the boat with its freight of happy humans reaches the lagoon it is travelling at lightning speed. The popularity of this exercise is best attested by sight of those occupying the boats themselves. They come down the slope cheering and screaming in delight. When the craft strikes the water there is one joyous shout from all, and as the boatman guides it to the end of the pool, where it slowly comes to a stop, it is the unanimous exclamation: "Wasn't it grand!"

The free open air circus, the band concerts, the balloon ascension and the hundred and one free entertainments make this a very popular resort. This week all visitors will have an opportunity to see Fred Bennet, the clever impersonator. Mr. Bennet gives a remarkable imitation of Creatore, the famous Italian bandmaster. Impersonating that conductor's eccentricities, he will lead several numbers played by the Salem Cadet Band.

Music by Request.

Jean Missud, the leader of the celebrated band, has announced that the programme for this week's music will be made up of selections suggested by visitors at the park. Anyone desiring any selection is invited to write it on a postal, addressed to Mr. Missud at Wonderland.

Bernier, the brilliant cornetist and other members of the band, will render solos both afternoons. In the open air circus Darlings trained ponies will perform. This feature of the free show is one of the most interesting at Wonderland. The animals are wonderfully trained and go through stunts that please young and old alike.

"Fire and Flames" still continues to please thousands daily and with the advancement of the season the spectacle is made still more interesting. The Indian Congress and Wild West, with all its thrilling situations, is interesting to all visitors. The bucking horses with the fair women riders, whom they have yet to dismount, and the rough and ready cowboys furnish much amusement.

There are so many and varied places of amusement and interest at Wonderland that the visitor never fails to find something new to please. Hundreds take their children, where they may escape the heat of the city and spend an afternoon of amusement, which at the same time is instructive. The cool breezes from the ocean lend attractiveness to Wonderland, where the work of both man and nature is combined to make up the sum of attraction.

BOSTON STRIKE-BREAKERS TO BE SENT OUT WEST

Applicants Offered $3 a Day to Work on Trolley Lines.

One hundred strike-breakers will leave Boston to-night for Denver, San Francisco and other western cities in which there are strikes on the railways.

The men will go in answer to an advertisement calling for men who are familiar with the workings of trolley cars. The advertisement told them to call at No. 108 Harrison avenue. The men will leave Boston to-night at 6 o'clock for Fall River, and go by boat to New York. To-morrow the men will start on a three days' journey to the middle west.

All day yesterday the applicants for the positions met at the Harrison avenue address given and were examined as to their capacity and experience. The men are promised $3 a day until the strike is off and then $2.50 a day for motormen and $2.25 for conductors, with permanent positions to those for whom work is found. If the examination proved satisfactory to those in charge of the "recruiting" office each man was given a slip of paper bearing his name, with the date in one corner, and the initials "F. J." in the other. It is said that these initials stand for F. Johnson, the man who did the booking. The head of the recruiting station is not known.

"I think that it is to Denver and to San Francisco that the men are to be sent," said one of the recruits. "There are strikes on there and another in Arizona, and still another in Portland, Ore. We think that this is a sort of Farley recruiting station."

Probably 200 men visited the station yesterday. Many said upon coming out that they would not go West under any circumstances.

"We are promised no guarantee except regular pay," said one of the men, "and were told that we would be herded together during the strike. After this is over and we are not given steady jobs, we will have to shift for ourselves and get back East the best way we can."

Those who expressed a willingness to go were told to report this afternoon at 5 o'clock to receive their tickets.

To Make Money Through Real Estate.

Buy Where the Crowd Is. For Where the Crowd Goes High Prices Will Go

Many men during the next few years—AND DURING THE NEXT YEAR ESPECIALLY—will lay the foundation of independence through real estate investments, WISELY made.

No man has yet correctly estimated the results of electricity as the universal carrying power.

The man who buys wisely TO-DAY will obtain for himself A HOME AT ONCE, and very probably FINANCIAL INDEPENDENCE in the future.

There is just ONE KIND of property that cannot be stolen from you—that is a piece of the surface of this earth.

The only thing that we KNOW to be real is that solid earth upon which we can stamp our feet. And the man who can stamp his foot and say "This piece of the earth belongs TO ME," is the wise man, taking advantage of present conditions to protect himself and those dependent upon him.

In real estate—as in all other directions—there are infinite chances of being gouged. The fool and his money can be parted almost as easily in a real estate as in a mining stock deal. There are traps set for the fool in every market.

We say "ALMOST as easily," for after all, the man who buys and pays for AND OWNS a piece of land HAS SOMETHING to show for his money.

Many a man has thought to overreach a neighbor and sold him a piece of land subsequently worth a fortune above the selling price.

It is hard to point to any piece of ground in or near this city that will not shortly be worth more than the most extravagant price asked for it to-day.

The city will be soon no longer the COMPACT city—it will be the scattered city. Improved transportation will make the individual home and lot replace the hideous, unhealthy tenement. Hundreds of square miles will be added to BUILT-UP Boston.

It will be difficult for some time to buy land that will fail to pay the investor well.

But the careful man will seek and find THE BEST INVESTMENT. He will have his home in mind, saying:

"I'll live on the land while it grows in value, paying interest and taxes in place of rent. When the price is high enough, I'll sell for a sufficient profit, and meanwhile I shall have acquired another home site on cheaper ground—just as good—for my home."

First, the wise buyer will look for a HEALTHY site.

Second, he will study the direction of THE MOVEMENT OF POPULATION, knowing that where the crowd goes high prices will go.

Third, and most important, he will examine comparative prices and make sure that he is getting for each dollar of hard-earned money a good dollar's worth of GOOD LAND.

A man with a small accumulation of money to-day can make himself rich in ten years IF HE WILL BUY LAND WISELY.

If you have some money, and can pay a little more each year, GO INTO REAL ESTATE. This is the time. This is the very beginning of the new and extraordinary transportation movement.

In a short time, what the wise man knows now the whole public will know—it will be too late then for bargains. Buy ALL you can carry—but not one dollar's worth MORE than you can carry. Allow for sickness and possible lack of work.

Don't RISK your future in the idea of MAKING it. Keep within your means; USE YOUR BEST JUDGMENT; avoid false bargains. Investigate and inspect for yourself—then get a title to good land in or near this city.

To own land and to pay for it gradually is to COMPEL YOURSELF TO SAVE. It is the best way to TEACH yourself economy. And you will save with pleasure. When you buy land, you know that some insurance grafter WILL NOT HAND THE MONEY TO MORGAN—FOR-CORTELYOU-FOR-ROOSEVELT.

You may not be, in your purchase, such a financial wonder as the insurance king says He is, but you will know WHERE your money is, and what it is DOING.

A good piece of property—a home bought and paid for—is better than a BET that the New York Life Insurance Company will be solvent when you get ready to die.

A piece of Boston ground is worth more, as an investment, than a big BET on any financier's integrity—however far above par that MAY be.

Watch for the right time to sell it, and don't be in any hurry about that. When you can get more WISELY, do it.

You can make to-day's economy pay interest a hundred fold if you have good judgment and can trust yourself to STICK TO TO-DAY'S DETERMINATION AS TO SELF-DENIAL AND SAVING.

Little Editorials from the People

"GIVE A CONSTRUCTIVE POLICY"

W. R. Hearst, Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

As an appreciative reader of your paper I must commend you for your fearless attacks on party bosses, corrupt corporations and, what is worse, on a Legislature which has covered itself with ignomy with regard to certain measures brought in for the people's interests. Not content with tearing down the various houses of cards erected by them, you put before your readers a constructive policy, so simple, forceful and educative that it is capable of being followed in its entirety by the people to their own moral and material advantage.

The most pressing danger to my mind is the slight consideration given to the advantage of using the ballot on all questions by a large number of young men, who do not seem to realize the struggle which took place before such a privilege was given to them. Some of your editorials, Mr. Editor, on this subject I took as an inspiration to impress on young men especially the great opportunity they were neglecting by not attending to this important part of their duty as citizens of a great country. I thank you for the great influence you bring to bear on this all important question by putting it so forcibly before the people. Hoping the time is not far distant when the labor party will balance the so-called Democrats and Republicans in both State and Senate.

E. Z. MARK INSPECTS A PATENT BURGLAR-PROOF JEWEL CASKET

Copyright, 1906, by American Journal-Examiner

1. SLICK PARTY—Mr. Mark, this is the greatest burglar-fooling invention of the age. See, you place your jewelry in the casket, which, apparently, is just like any other jewel casket. Just place your watch, your diamond stud and your diamond ring in the casket and I'll show you how it works. That's it.

2. SLICK PARTY—Now, I shut the lid; press this spring, and, lo and behold, when you open the box again a false bottom has covered the jewels. When the burglar opens the casket he thinks it contains nothing. Therefore he leaves it alone and your jewels are saved.

3. SLICK PARTY—Now, to get the jewels when you wish them, all you have to do is to press this other spring—dear me, it's stuck. Mr Mark, could you get me a little machine oil?

MR. MARK—Sure. That's a great idea. I'll take one of those boxes.

4. MR. E. Z.—(returning)—I was some time in finding the machine oil, but—— Why, where has that fellow gone? Ye gods! SKIPPED! With my watch! My diamond stud and my diamond ring. Ye gods! DONE AGAIN!

Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Do Not Be Forever Leaning on Others Instead of Relying on Your Own Powers to Help Yourself

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Copyright, 1906, by American Journal-Examiner

Do not be forever reaching out to people and books for help. To lean on anything but God and yourself is to be stunted.

And do not lean too hard and wholly on God. Remember, "God helps those who help themselves."

I know a man who says he no longer thinks or plans anything; he just goes along without any idea what he is going to do, or say, or write; and God supplies him with whatever he needs.

But the man is losing all individuality; he is not achieving what he was sent into the world to accomplish—self-development. He is merely a medium, through which Unseen Influences work.

I do not believe it is the Great Creative Power which moves him; it is disembodied intelligence, and while they are so far good and clean intelligences, to judge from his life, they may not always attend him, for the man who does not use his own mind and brain and will power is sure to grow weak and become a subject for hypnotic control of the living and the dead.

To lean wholly on people, however wise they may be, or on books, however great they may be, is to weaken one's own powers. It is like the drug habit, and creates a demand for more.

A Case in Point

A WOMAN wrote me for a list of books which would help her to acquire the power of concentration.

I suggested "Concentration," by Elizabeth Towne, Holyoke, Mass., and "The Magic Seven," by Lida C. Churchill, New York. Both books, which I had found helpful. A few months later I met the lady while on a journey. She expressed great pleasure, and remarked: "I think I was sent to you to-day, as I need help. I want you to tell me how to make something of myself."

"Did you read the books, I suggested?" I asked.

"Oh, yes."

"Did you follow the rules laid down for concentration?"

"No; that is what I want you to help me about. Tell me how to develop? Tell me of other books I can read for guidance."

A woman like that is best left alone. She is like an able-bodied person who refuses to walk and insists upon being carried in arms.

Left alone, walking will be her only alternative.

The man who has legs and a spinal column, and is not paralyzed, must exercise his limbs, or they will become useless.

Must Exercise Will

THE man who is given a mind and a will must exercise them, or he will become a nonentity.

All the musical works ever written will not make a musician unless the daily exercises are practiced.

All the books on concentration and the use of the will in self-development will not make a self-poised human being if the knowledge imparted in the books is put to no use.

No human being ever yet really needed the help of another human being in the way of finding the great truths of life.

They are all implanted in each immortal soul, and if that soul will speak to the silence and say: "Show me the way," and will then walk patiently in the paths of the nearest duties, day by day, the larger way and the broader life and the fulness of success will be shown.

LEAN on thyself, yet prop thyself with prayer;
All hope is prayer; who calls it hope no more
Sends prayer, footsore, forth over weary wastes;
While he who calls it prayer gives wings to hope,
And there are spirits, messengers of light,
Who come at will in answer to our call,
Make friends with them, and with thine inner self;
Cast out all care, bitterness and hate,
And keep the minds for tabernacle pure,
And climb, and claim, blest immortality.
